Today Is Halloween !And me and my friends wanted to go to a REAL hunted house . So we went outta town to find one we found online , as we were driving it got darker and darker the closer we got to our destination . after a few hours of driving it was 8:47 we arrived at the house and it look like a normal house but something told me it wasnt . we all went inside and looked around . we brought a ouija board with us just incase the wasnt a ghost or any thing worse here . after a few minutes of looking around we set up the ouija board and started to play . after a few minutes of play every one was scared because something was answering our questions . then they had said some thing , "6 must die 1 will live ." then the ligths shut off . and every one was quite ,then they turned back one and one of our friends moved and then a ghost came outta no where and KILLED him . so every one ran into different rooms, 4 of us went into the living room , 1 of us in the kitchen . my friend maddie had the music remote and turned it on to full blast thinking it would destrctact the ghost , so she ran but tripped and he came and killed her to !!!👁 then david called kimberly while she was in the kitchen she was tell him to please stop but it was o late he came and killed her to . then it was just me and him he was bout to call me and then something snached him up and he was DEAD i was the only one alive i was the one who servived i was so scared i was alone in a house with a ghost but after a while i wasnt so scared i kinda got used to it yeah it was creepy but the night wasnt over we all promise we would stay there the whole night until midnight so i stayed and talked to more ghost but this time they were being kinda nice but then i asked how they died and they stsrted saying that they wanted my soul i wasnt ready to die so.....i ran out the house i said forget the promise my life is one the line. eventually i made it back home but after halloween nothing has ever been the same ever
